Accused in disturbance

A disturbance at 317 1/2 W. Chamberlin St., Saturday resulted in the arrest of Thomas H. Wakeley, 20, on charges of disorderly conduct and criminal damage to property. Dixon Police were called to the apartment by Harold Steward, Sterling, owner of the building. When police went to the upstairs apartment they were met by Wakeley who told officers "nothing is going on."

After telling Wakeley his landlord had called in the complaint, police left and were walking to their squad car when they heard Wakeley arguing with his downstairs neighbor, Jim Franks, and blaming him for calling police.

Officers returned and, after breaking up the argument, placed Wakeley under arrest for disorderly conduct.

The criminal damage charge stemmed from damage done to a stairway leading to Wakeley's apartment.

Police transported Wakeley to the Law Enforcement Center where he was being held in jail awaiting a court appearance today.

Shot in court

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A man was critically wounded today when he was shot in a crowded municipal courtroom as he stood before a judge for arraignment on first-degree murder charges.

The victim is Nathaniel Sanders, 34, of Indianapolis.

The daughter of the man Sanders was charged with killing was taken into custody by police after the shooting.

Sanders and his brother, Robert, 33, were being arraigned for the beating death Saturday of Nathaniel Sanders' father-in-law, Harry Thomas, 59, Indianapolis.

Police said the woman held in the courtroom shooting was Harriett R. Jones, 25, Thomas' daughter, who had approached the bench with witnesses and family members for the start of arraignment proceedings before Judge Frank L. Harlor.

Sanders was shot once in the lower back and was taken to an Indianapolis hospital in critical condition, authorities said.

Harlor's secretary, Arlene Pritchett, who was on the bench with the judge, said she at first thought the judge had been shot because "he jumped straight up into the air when the shot was fired."

Authorities said about 100 persons were in the courtroom when the shooting happened.

Fort Mercer (N.J.) and Mifflin (Pa.), erected to guard the Delaware River approach to Philadelphia, played vital roles in the Philadelphia campaign of 1777. They forced British commander-in-chief Sir William Howe to approach Philadelphia by the longer Chesapeake Bay route rather than the direct river approach. It then became difficult for him to return to the Hudson Valley in time to support the British army moving south from Canada. The World Almanac notes.

Break-in probed

Dixon Police detectives are continuing their investigation into a break-in at the Teresa Scheffler residence, 1207 Prescott St.

It was not known whether a forcible entry was made to the home.

A Rockford youth escaped injury Saturday when the car he was driving left Ill. 2 at Lost Nation Road.

Raymond D. Walker, 20, was traveling west on the highway, according to Lee County Sheriff's Deputies, when he attempted to pass a car. After returning to the right lane to avoid striking an oncoming car, Walker's auto left the pavement on the right side, then, crossed over both traffic lanes, leaving the road on the left side, where it knocked down a metal road sign.

Walker was ticketed for disobeying a no passing zone and failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

3rd arrest in burglary

Sheriff Ray Nehring announced today a third person was arrested over the weekend in connection with the Sept. 16 burglary of the Harold Stenzel residence near Sublette.

Arrested was 23-year-old Richard D. Fortune, Sterling. Taken in that burglary were several shotguns and rifles along with Mrs. Stenzel's purse, all of which were recovered by the sheriff's department.

Fortune is being held in Lee County jail under $10,000 bond and will be arraigned on Monday in Lee County Circuit Court.

Fund pinch, overlapping hurts community programs

By T. LEE HUGHES
Associated Press Writer
Illinois' community mental health program is foundering in bureaucratic overlapping and inadequate resources, while money that could help straighten it out remains tied up in the state's mental institutions, an Associated Press investigation shows.

The program began more than a decade ago as an attempt to offer more humane care to the nearly 500,000 Illinois residents who are or have been mentally ill or retarded.

Thousands of them were moved from the austere wards of state mental institutions to the more hospitable environment of local communities—to be cared for by a network of outpatient clinics, sheltered workshops and private nursing and shelter care homes.

But in Waukegan, William P. White III, an investigator for the Illinois State Legislative Investigating Commission, testified last week that negligence apparently contributed to the deaths of 14 retarded and handicapped patients at the All Seasons Nursing Home in the year ending September 1974.

William J. Walsh, state Public Health administrator for the area, told The AP that early problems at the home were partially caused by his department licensing the facility in early 1973 to bring in too many retarded patients at once. "It just overwhelmed the staff."

Earlier, the investigating commission had lashed the state for its performance in the deaths of seven mentally retarded patients in a Rockford nursing home, saying "inadequate criteria were used by the Department of Mental Health in placing patients at the home."

The fact is, the community program has never been fully implemented. At its heart were plans to eliminate some of the costly state mental institutions and use the money to help support the community care effort.

But only one state institution, Peoria State Hospital, has been closed, though the population of state mental institutions dropped from 49,000 in 1959 to less than 13,000 at the end of fiscal 1975.

Meanwhile, more than 111,000 patients were being treated by community facilities at the end of the fiscal year, and officials responsible for overseeing their care feel they aren't getting enough funds for the job, the investigation by The AP and 20 of its member newspapers showed.

The problem is particularly critical in the state's 1,000 nursing and shelter care homes, where about 17,000 former institutional residents are supported by the state Department of Public Aid. It is compounded because at least three major state agencies monitor the homes, creating a bureaucratic tangle in which no one assumes ultimate responsibility.

"The problem with the whole monitoring system is it gives everyone an out, they can pass the buck," said Patrick T. Murphy, former executive director of a governor's commission on mental health.

The results can be disaster. State inspection records showed care levels vary widely at the homes, and in some of them filth and maladministration can drag on for months, be corrected, then just as readily reappear.

"If you have 1,000 homes and you have 20 that are bad, that's 20 too much," says Charles Siragusa, of the Illinois Legislative Investigating Commission, which is looking into nursing homes. "If you're dealing with fruit and produce that's one thing. If you're dealing with human beings, that's another thing."

Involved in monitoring the homes are the Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities, which places the patients; the Department of Public Aid, which often pays for their care; and the Department of Public Health, which licenses the homes and certifies them for federal medical funding.

For Mental Health and Public Aid, the only effective weapon against a home providing poor care is to stop placing patients. But officials say they can't actually remove patients if the patients don't want to go, and any further action falls to Public Health.

Dr. Bertram B. Moss, a Public Health official, says state law doesn't allow his agency to simply revoke the license of a home falling below state standards, and that administrative and court hearings make revocation "a cumbersome, tedious, long process."

Further, though licenses are issued yearly, a home can continue to operate on an old license until it is actually revoked, he said. The threat of legal action has forced many poorly run homes to either close or improve, officials say.

But from January 1971 to July 1975 only eight nursing or shelter care home licenses were revoked in Illinois. And certification for federal medical funding was withdrawn only five times from 1968 to August, 1975, the department said.

In addition, only now is the state beginning to develop specific standards governing the care of mentally ill and retarded patients placed in the homes.

Many of the homes were originally intended to care for the aged, and as such state standards cover such areas as physical plant, diet, safety, use of medicine and activities programs. But the standards have not specifically dealt with the special staffing and program needs of the mentally handicapped.

Only recently did the state adopt special standards for the retarded, but even these do not cover all retarded patients in all kinds of homes.

But lack of adequate standards is but one example of the inadequate planning involved in the community mental health program. The staff of the Illinois Economic and Fiscal Commission described that planning effort this way:

"First, nobody is quite sure what is to be done; and second, it is not clear who is supposed to do it."

American Revolution

A Founding Mother

Although John Adams did not always like what a certain satirist of the Revolutionary War era wrote about him, he admitted that her pen had "no equal that I know of in this country." The author of the three-volume "History of the Rise, Progress and Termination of the American Revolution" was an ardent patriot whose close friends included Adams and his outspoken wife Abigail. This Massachusetts author wrote the political dramas "The Adulateur" and "The Group," and through her political satire helped kindle revolution. She used satire so "openly and flagrantly" for a woman of her time that her work occasionally was attributed to men.

DO YOU KNOW — Who was this political satirist of the Revolutionary era?

FRIDAY'S ANSWER — Paul Laurence Dunbar was called the "poet of his race."

Walker to address legislature Wednesday

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Illinois lawmakers go back into session Wednesday to decide whether to override vetoes by the governor—including budget vetoes which several state officials say must be upheld.

Gov. Daniel Walker has been granted permission to address a joint session of the legislature on Wednesday, the day they return, according to the governor's office.

And Walker appeared downstate over the weekend in taped television commercials in which he asked support for his spending cuts. The commercials were prepared and distributed by a newly created committee, a spokesman said.

Comptroller George Lindberg, a Republican, has sided with Walker in stating the General Assembly should let the spending vetoes stand.

But he and Walker disagreed, however, on the condition of the state's fiscal health.

Lindberg has said repeatedly that the state's cash situation is at the crisis stage and that without major adjustments the state may find itself unable to pay its workers, its welfare recipients, its service and equipment suppliers and its school districts on time.

Walker's top budget officials conceded there may be times in the coming months when payments may have to be delayed, but they contend the state will have $115 million in the treasury when the fiscal year ends June 30, 1976.

The most controversial of the budget actions taken by the governor was his cuts in the $1.9 billion appropriated for elementary and secondary education.

He cut $142 million from the school aid appropriations. Some $81 million of those cuts were in the $1.254 billion appropriation for direct payments to school districts.

The state AFL-CIO voted at its state convention to urge the override of the education cuts.

State Treasurer Alan J. Dixon, who is opposing Walker for the Democratic nomination for governor, has said he believes the state can afford to restore $61 million of the cuts.

Walker contends that despite his reductions in school aid, he has approved more this year than he did last year for education.

The state would face a budget deficit or a tax increase without the cuts, he said.

Democrats loyal to Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley are expected to lead the fight for overrides of the education vetoes.

Walker has called a special session, which will begin with the regular fall session, to consider his proposal to appropriate an extra $20 million to guarantee that every school district get as much in this fiscal year as it did in fiscal 1975.

The Illinois State Chamber of Commerce has sided with Walker and Lindberg in saying the state cannot afford any spending overrides.

They note that the governor has already admitted the Department of Public Aid will need at least $118 million more before the end of the fiscal year next June.

Walker also used his veto powers on a number of substantive bills and the actions may cause controversy.

One measure he vetoed would have put control of the state fair in the hands of a 15-member board. The governor currently appoints the state fair manager. Walker said placing operation of the state fair agency in the hands of a board would reduce accountability.

But those who supported the bill say the fair has been scandal-ridden under control of a number of administrations and that an independent board would take the fair out of politics.

Dixon and Lindberg are on the same side in arguing for an override of Walker's veto of a measure giving the comptroller greater powers to investigate spending proposals.

New rules on foreclosures

CHICAGO (AP) — New rules designed to protect Illinois homeowners from fast foreclosure practices have been announced by Ronald Stackler, director of the Illinois Department of Registration Regulations.

Stackler also called on the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development to enforce federal rules and stop doing business with mortgage brokers who practice "foreclosure for profit."

"In too many cases mortgage brokers have foreclosed on borrowers who only missed one or two payments and just needed a little time to catch up," Stackler said Sunday at a news conference.

The new rules will take effect October 27th, and will require mortgage brokers to register as real estate brokers and obtain an Illinois license.

The brokers also must supply the department with information on all mortgages, defaults and foreclosures.

That data will be used to compute each firm's foreclosure rate and an industry average for the state, Stackler said.

If a mortgage broker's foreclosure rate substantially exceeds the industry's average, the information will be submitted to the Real Estate Examining Board, which will determine whether the broker's license should be revoked for unworthiness or incompetency, Stackler said.

The new rules apply to those who arrange, obtain or service real estate mortgage loans. Banks, credit unions, insurance companies or savings and loan associations that do not have real estate brokers' licenses are excluded because such institutions are regulated by other state agencies.

Although the rules apply to all home mortgages, Stackler said they are designed specifically to alleviate problems with government-insured mortgages.

"Unscrupulous mortgage brokers find it more profitable to grant a mortgage to a bad risk, wait until the person can't make one payment and then foreclose," Stackler said. "That way, the broker can get his money in one lump sum from the government, rather than waiting for it to trickle in over 20 years when the homeowner would be paying."

Another way foreclosures on government-insured loans become profitable is when "the government pays them (mortgage brokers) to maintain the property after it has gone through foreclosure. But often, they'll take the money and completely neglect the property," Stackler said.

If the Department of Housing and Urban Development properly enforced regulations already on the books, many of the unscrupulous practices would be eliminated, Stackler said.

"But they're not enforced, and we felt we couldn't wait for the federal government to act," he added.

Stackler said such foreclosures-for-profit have led to the deterioration of entire neighborhoods. While the problem is most acute in Chicago, he said downstate cities, notably East St. Louis, Springfield, and Rockford, also have been affected.

Suiting men's taste

Dressing up is a downer

By CHARLES HIX

"Are we dressing?" Husband groans.
"Yes. Oil and vinegar," Wife retorts.

The dialogue may vary but this scene is reenacted countless times in homes across America daily. Whereas many women like to strut their finery, numerous men, despite the supposed peacock revolution, prefer roosting in casual and comfortable clothing. Yet, most men's fashion forecasters are predicting the resurgence of the Dapper Dan this year. How accurate will they be?

Suddenly, finely tailored suits are coming back on the retail selling floor en masse. Some sources gauge that, of the fall suits, three-quarters will be vested, hardly a leisurely style. Banker suits, understated and conservatively detailed, are getting the nod by the so-called experts. Topbilled menswear designers claim, almost in chorus, that tailoring will live again.

While industry groups like the Men's Fashion Association of America are predicting the return of "Old Money" looks in male wearables, and while the cognoscenti applaud suiting revivals, many firms, particularly at more popular pricing, are expanding leisure concepts. In the John Weitz signature collection for Palm Beach, for example, there are five different models of tailored leisurewear in the fall collection. Last fall there were none. The Johnny Carson line of men's clothing is also introducing leisure suits for the first time.

"Many times the designers who make very expensive men's clothing," analyzes Carl Klech, national merchandise manager of men's clothing, Montgomery Ward, "must create styles very different from what's currently available. Right now it's leisure suits, so tailored, traditional suits represent a complete reversal from the mass market. These styles may spread to the masses a year from now ... or never. Designer shops, which proliferated five years ago, died a violent death." At Ward's, says Klech, the main direction in men's clothing is still best described as "casual."

The defenders of the tailored suit revival, on the other hand, suggest that economic conditions support the comeback. "I wouldn't say there will be a dramatic upswing in men's suiting sales," notes a spokesperson for Hart Schaffner & Marx, one of the world's largest menswear manufacturers, "but in times of economic downturn, people look to classics. Because changes aren't as rapid in men's fashions as women's, a well-tailored suit is a good investment in gloomy periods." Still, it's questionable that the investment aspect alone is very appealing or pertinent to lots of men. One clothing study reports that the sales strength of suits is in the white collar, college-educated group, 25-29, who have an average of four suits and four sports coats. Seventy-six per cent of blue collar workers do own a suit (presumably to be worn at weddings, funerals or other "dress-up" occasions) while 80 per cent of all males 18 and over own at least one suit. However, the prerequisites are mainly functional, not fashionable.

As one analyst ruefully admits, "Deep down most men are suspicious of fashion trends. They see styling as a trick to make them shell out hard-earned cash."

Lester E. Frankenstein, the president of another large menswear manufacturer, Michaels-Stern & Co., expresses this attitude in a different way. Describing the psychology of the American suit buyer, he says, "The striving for unity and common identity is a strong urge in man — an urge often in conflict with his urge to express his individuality. This dynamic tension means men want to look their best by looking the same as others and still be outstanding."

This paradox might explain why the vested suit — with its would-be claim to individuality — may be the most popular mass suit sold this fall. Paul Rogers, the fashion director for Sear's men's stores, suggests, "The vested suit will be very strong in 'mid-America' — although I don't like the phrase; New York is 'mid-America' too. 'Volume-consumer' makes more sense — because the fellows buying it will be looking for something special. There won't be one particular vested style which will sell best, but the best — almost any vest, matching or contrasting — takes the suit out of the 'dumb suit' category."

Even so, Rogers points out that leisure suits and sport shirts will remain the backbone of men's clothing sales.

Ward's Klech agrees. "Even though suit business has bottomed out and is coming back a little, it's on an item basis. The one suit a man buys must have something enticing. That will be the vest. But generally the sporty look is still what's moving goods."

Jim Albaun, the advertising director for Palm Beach, also concurs. Pointing to a decidedly sportive suit, the jacket of which has contrast stitching and bellows pockets, Albaun foresees as much as 80 per cent of the company's fall business being that one model. He goes on to assess that, in buying priority, the average male is first concerned with price, secondly in comfort, and only third in styling.

Fundamentally, too, the reluctance of many men to indulge themselves in fashion is simply a question of economics and ease. "The American consumer has proved himself smarter than the media and most retail organizations acknowledge," says Rogers. "Men accepted the notion of leisure suits so quickly and completely that the real challenge to the menswear industry is to change the leisure suits, not just to bring back conventionally tailored suits."

"In the future," he continues, "I believe the best way to span different clothing trends will be in more separates buying, that is, suits not sold as suits, but as coordinated jackets, slacks, so vests, leisure jackets, outerwear and other items can be mixed and matched. This could bridge the arbitrary gap between 'formal' and 'informal' clothing," or dressing up vs. dressing down.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you do me a special favor and print two letters from me in your column? The first I wrote to my husband 15 years ago and kept a copy of. The second I mailed to him last night. Thank you for your special consideration. — R. L.

Date: August 1, 1960
Dear Jack: For what seems like the millionth time I walked into the house tonight and you are not here. You aren't out fooling around. You are at work on the night shift.

I never wanted you to take that shift and we argued about it. You thought it was well worth the extra money. I told you I didn't care about the money, that I'd rather have a normal family life. But I lost the battle.

Our children are sick of hearing me say, "Shhh — your father is asleep." They can't bring their friends home after school or practice the piano. I can't have a table of bridge or the garden club meetings here. You need your rest.

The years slip away so rapidly. We seem to be growing further apart. Then there's this matter of your health. I look at you and see a tired, middle-aged man who needs regular hours, regular meals and a regular routine.

I realize you are doing what you think is best for me and the children, but you're wrong. Will you please reconsider? I love you. — Your Wife

Here's the second letter which I mailed last night:

Dear Jack: When the judge said, "Divorce granted," you vaguely resembled a man I used to know — but you looked about 40 years older.

A look at the short club

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Jim: "We have had quite a few questions about the so-called short club. You were one of the inventors, weren't you?"

Oswald: "Probably the inventor. Way back in 1933 or 1934 I suggested that a hand such as North's be opened one club rather than one spade. That club bid was a general-utility bid. It guaranteed at least three clubs to an honor and partner was supposed to assume we held four. It was in no sense a forcing bid and just never seemed to get us into trouble."

Jim: "I see you have picked a hand which shows the bid at its best. The club opening enables North and South to get to a nice comfortable two hearts. Careful play brings the contract home with an overtrick."

Oswald: "If North opens one spade South responds one notrump. The hand plays there and South will probably make one notrump."

Jim: "There is a lot of difference between three hearts and one notrump in a match-point game and that 50 points is worth something in rubber

Night shift destroys marriage

the whys and wherefores, but I wonder now, if you could have gazed into a crystal ball and seen what the future held, would you have done things differently?

Our children view you as a stranger. You missed out on all the fun when they were growing up. The few good friends we had dropped us along the way. We could never seem to get together.

So now our marriage is over and we must both make new lives for ourselves. If it had been another woman I would have felt better. But it was something far more insidious — that night shift. Goodbye and good luck, dear. — Your Ex-Wife

Dear Friend: Here are both your letters. I print them for the value they might have to others who may be struggling with the same problem. Thanks for sharing your sad story. Perhaps someone, somewhere, will learn from it.

Dear Ann Landers: Our son is 21, a college junior, and a serious student. The young woman he has been dating since his freshman year is very attractive. She is well-mannered, does well in school and I like her.

The problem: My husband knows they have been having sex for the last year (at least) and he really despises the girl because of it. If she were our daughter, it might be understandable. But why my husband has these hostile feelings toward her is beyond me.

I'm sure they are in love and plan to marry. I hate to think of the trouble ahead for this girl because of my husband's irrational attitude. How can I help?

— Trouble a'Brewin'

Dear Brew: Don't argue with your husband about the situation or try to defend the girl. Just keep the lid on.

Irrational people are unreachable. Let's hope Dad's anger subsides. If not, he'll find himself the victim of his own isolation.

Steelers crunch Bears

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Is the "Steel Curtain" defense rusting like an old sedan? Did the running game miss the plane after the Super Bowl? Did you take them too lightly?

The Pittsburgh Steelers were asked those kinds of questions Sunday even though they had just managed a 34-3 victory over the Chicago Bears.

"That tells you how far we've come," laughed linebacker Andy Russell, a holdover from the days when the Steelers settled for little victories, like clean socks every game.

Nonetheless, the Steelers now have a Super Bowl trophy to defend, and perfection is their measuring stick.

So there was a degree of alarm after the Bears, 1-4, piled up 196 yards rushing compared to 157 by the Steelers, held to 29 on the ground the first half.

"We played lousy in the first half," said Steeler Coach Chuck Noll.

The Bears' ground yardage was earned by Mike Adamle with 110 yards and Roland Harper with 86. They averaged more than seven yards per carry subbing for injured Cid Edwards and Walt Payton.

Yet, Chicago quarterback Gary Huff completed just 8 of 22 pass attempts for a meager 46 yards, 34 of them in the final minute of play.

"We were overplaying against the pass because we wanted to make them play conservative football," Russell explained after Pittsburgh, 4-1, stayed on the heels of unbeaten Cincinnati in the AFC Central Division.

"When you drop off like that, it makes you vulnerable to draws, but you can never be pleased when a team runs on you that much," he added.

Huff was among the first to admit that the Bears had done most their running on a treadmill.

"The statistics look bad, like we ran all over the Steelers," he said.

"But that's not true. They went out to stop something, and they did. They might have stopped our run if they had decided to."

Chicago's futility peaked on the last play of the game. Adamle darted for what seemed a 12-yard touchdown run at the gun, but officials ruled he'd touched a knee at the one-yard line. No points.

The Steelers led 10-3 at half-time with the help of a two misuses by the young Bears of new Coach Jack Pardee.

After Brazile is thrown out

Oilers upset Redskins

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

A lot of fans figured Houston might get a kick out of Billy "White Shoes" Johnson, the Oilers' dazzling kick-returner. Instead, the Oilers showed Washington their heels when Robert Brazile got the boot.

The surprising Oilers, once the laughingstock of the National Football League but now once-beaten in five games, erupted in anger Sunday after Brazile, their star rookie line-backer, was kicked out of the game.

With the Redskins leading 7-6 in the third quarter, Billy Kilmer was directing Washington deep into Houston territory. And with Kilmer scrambling, Brazile rammed him out of bounds at the Houston 21 — and applied what officials said was a forearm chop to Kilmer's neck.

Out of the game went Brazile — and out of the stands came a furious, thundering chorus of boos from the 51,911 fans in the Astrodome.

And out came the fury of the Houston defense. It stiffened and held the Redskins to Mark Moseley's 32-yard field goal.

And back came the equally aroused Houston offense, marching 62 yards with the ensuing kickoff. The final play, in the opening minute of the fourth quarter, was Don Hardeman's second one-yard touchdown plunge of the game, the one that carried Houston to a 13-10 upset victory.

In the rest of the NFL, Green Bay knocked Dallas from the unbeaten ranks with a 19-17 surprise victory; Cincinnati stayed perfect by whipping Oakland 14-10; Minnesota did the same by holding off Detroit 25-19; Miami mangled the New York Jets 43-0; St. Louis beat Philadelphia 31-20; New England scored its first victory by topping Baltimore 21-10; Pittsburgh crushed Chicago 34-3; Los Angeles whipped Atlanta 22-7; Kansas City nosed out winless San Diego 12-10; San Francisco outlasted New Orleans 35-21; and Denver squeezed past winless Cleveland 16-15.

Unbeaten Buffalo hosts the New York Giants tonight.

Bengals 14, Raiders 10
Rookie cornerback Marvin Cobb ramled 52 yards with a third-quarter interception for the touchdown that carried the Bengals past Oakland in their mistake-laden game.

"When momentum is on the sidelines for both teams, when they are bottled up like that, you have to be patient and not make mistakes," said defensive end Ron Carpenter. "Today they were the ones who made the mistakes."

Vikings 25, Lions 19
Fran Tarkenton fired his ninth and 10th touchdown passes of the year — four yards to Stu Voigt and 10 yards to Ed Marinaro — and Fred Cox kicked three field goals to keep Minnesota unbeaten. But the Vikings had to hold off the Lions, who fell behind 25-3, then rallied on two Bill Munson touchdown passes.

Packers 19, Cowboys 17
"I'm about three feet off the ground," said elated first-year Coach Bart Starr after John Hadl gave the previously winless Packers their upset of Dallas with a 26-yard scoring pass to Rich McGeorge in the closing minutes.

Dolphins 43, Jets 0
"I didn't expect to do anything like this against the Jets," said Miami quarterback Bob Griese, who completed 10 of 14 passes for 155 yards, threw for three touchdowns and ran for one. The Dolphins intercepted Joe Namath six times.

Cardinals 31, Eagles 20
Jim Otis' 116 yards gained and two touchdowns runs and Jackie Smith's dazzling touchdown reception on a 30-yard Jim Hart pass helped St. Louis overcome Philadelphia's early lead.

Patriots 21, Colts 10
Unheralded Andy Johnson crunched out 124 yards and scored on runs of one yard and 66 yards to carry the Patriots past Baltimore.

Rams 22, Falcons 7
James Harris' touchdown passes of 44 yards to Bob Klein and 28 yards to Harold Jackson and three Tom Dempsey field goals boosted the Rams over Atlanta. All five scores followed turnovers by the Falcons.

Chiefs 12, Chargers 10
Mike Livingston hit tight end Walter White with a 60-yard scoring pass and Jan Stenerud kicked field goals of 31 and 27 yards to lead Kansas City past the Chargers.

49ers 35, Saints 21
A blocked punt and a recovered fumble set the stage for two first-quarter San Francisco touchdowns — passes of 29 and 20 yards from Norm Snead to Gene Washington — in the 49ers' victory over New Orleans.

Broncos 16, Browns 15
Jim Turner's 53-yard field goal — the longest of his 12-year pro career — coming with no time left in the game.

Football games not over...

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

Since baseball games are still with us, you might be interested to know that football games, too, are never over until the last ... well, until the last down-and-out.

For example: —Colorado, No. 12 in The Associated Press ratings, erupted for four touchdowns in a 14-minute span of the second half to erase a 17-3 deficit and defeat 10th-ranked Missouri 31-20.

—Arizona, the No. 13 team, trailed Texas Tech 21-6 at half-time but finally overtook the Red Raiders 32-28 thanks to Lee Pistor's 41-yard field goal with six seconds left and a safety on the ensuing kickoff.

—Notre Dame, No. 15, needed 21 points in the final period for the second week in a row, this time coming from 20 points down to shade the Air Force 31-30 when freshman Jerome Heavens scored from the one with 3:23 remaining.

—Phil Gargis tossed a one-yard pass to Ed Butler and Sedrick McIntyre scored twice on short runs — all within 3½ minutes of the second half — as Auburn came from behind 27-6 and defeated Georgia Tech 31-27. Coach Shug Jordan, in his 25th and final season, called it "the most thrilling and best victory of them all."

—Jeff Grantz' 28-yard pass to Phillip Logan with 22 seconds left gave South Carolina a 35-29 victory over Mississippi.

—Purdue notched its first victory of the season, beating Illinois 26-24 on Mark Vitali's five-yard pass to Paul Beery with 2:32 left.

—Ted Brown ran 27 yards for a touchdown with 3:43 remaining and Johnny Evans passed to Don Buckley for two points to rally North Carolina State over North Carolina 21-20. That TD made it 21-14 but the losers had a two-point try of their own foiled after scoring with 12 seconds left.

—Tulane rallied from a 14-0 first-half deficit and edged West Virginia 16-14 on David Walters' 28-yard field goal with 4:17 to go.

Missouri was the only one of the Top Ten teams to lose, while some of the conference races began to take on old familiar looks.

The Big Ten chase, as usual, finds Ohio State and Michigan tied for the lead after No. 1-ranked Ohio State mauled Wisconsin 56-0 while seventh-ranked Michigan clobbered Northwestern 69-0.

The Big Eight has a two-way tie between second-ranked Oklahoma, which downed Kansas State 25-3, and fourth-ranked Nebraska, which outlasted Oklahoma State 28-20 as Vince Ferragamo came off the bench, passed for two touchdowns and ran for two more.

There's a three-way race in the Pacific-8 among third-ranked Southern Cal, No. 18 UCLA and California. USC used Doug Hogan's 61-yard interception return and Ricky Bell's three-yard scoring run to hold off winless Oregon 17-3. UCLA whipped Washington State 37-23 as Eddie Ayers ran for three touchdowns and unranked Cal trounced Oregon State 51-24 as Chuck Muncie scored three times and threw a 47-yard touchdown pass to Wesley Walker.

In the Southwest Conference, fifth-ranked Texas A&M and No. 8 Texas are tied for the lead, one-half game ahead of unranked Rice. The Aggies scored twice in the first half on short runs by Bubba Bean and held on to beat winless Texas Christian 14-6.

Meanwhile, Texas used the defensive heroics of tackle Brad Shearer, who intercepted a pass and recovered a fumble, and touchdown runs by Marty Akins, Earl Campbell and Gra-lyn Wyatt to outlast No. 20 Arkansas 24-18 while Rice turned back Southern Methodist 28-17 as Tommy Kramer ran for three touchdowns and passed 13 yards to Kenneth Roy for the other.

The Southeastern Conference shows a two-way tie between Alabama and Florida, who don't play each other. Alabama, ranked No. 6, downed No. 16 Tennessee 30-7 as Richard Todd ran for three touchdowns and passed for a fourth while Jimmy DuBose rushed for 204 yards and Tony Green scored twice to lead No. 14 Florida over Florida State 34-8.

Rounding out the Top Ten, Dave Stuts caught two second-half touchdown passes, including a 30-yard toss from Dick Barvinchak off a fake field goal, as ninth-ranked Penn State beat Syracuse 19-7 in a battle between Eastern independents.

In the Second Ten, 11th-ranked Arizona State trounced Colorado State 33-3 as Dennis Sproul came off the bench and led the Sun Devils to 24 second-half points, including an 11-yard scoring pass to Larry Mucker. That gave ASU the Western Athletic Conference lead while No. 13 Arizona, one-half game out, was struggling past Texas Tech in a nonleague contest.

Elsewhere in the Top Twenty, Michigan State's 17th-ranked Spartans scored twice in the third period on Charlie Baggett's six-yard run and Paul Rudzinski's 27-yard pass theft to pull away from Minnesota 38-15 and No. 19 Maryland blanked Wake Forest 27-0 as Larry Dick passed for 190 yards, including a 47-yard touchdown to Kim Hoover. The Terrapins lead the Atlantic Coast Conference by one-half game over Duke, which beat Clemson 25-21 on Tony Benjamin's 19-yard run with less than two minutes left after trailing 21-10.

Eagles lose 51-8

FRANKLIN GROVE — The Durand Bulldogs, held scoreless at half, exploded for 51 points in the final 24 minutes to swamp the Franklin Center Eagles 51-8, here, Saturday in an Upstate Illini football game.

Durand collected 18 points in the third quarter and racked up 33 digits in the final stanza to seal its fourth conference victory against two losses. Franklin Center falls to 2-3-1 in the Upstate Illini and 2-4-1 overall.

The Eagles grabbed a 2-0 lead in the second quarter as Rick Baker tackled the Durand punter in the end zone for a safety after a poor snap. Terry Swieger opened the Durand scoring in the third period with a five-yard run while Warren Meissen also tallied on a 14-yard burst and Randy Rhyner caught a 30-yard aerial from Steve Sweet before the quarter expired.

Sweet fired a 22-yarder to Mike Youngblut in the fourth frame and then hit Bill Hines with a conversion pass. Swieger came back to dash 51 and 15 yards for a pair of scores. Hines booted one conversion.

Rick Curia talled the only Eagles touchdown on a 17-yard halfback option pass from Baker but Youngblut took the ensuing kickoff and zipped 95 yards for the final visitors score. Franklin Center travels to Pearl City on Friday in another Upstate contest.

Dukes grab District crown

By MIKE CUNNIFF
Telegraph Sports Editor
STERLING — Larry Schult of Rock Falls was the individual winner while the Dixon Dukes copped their second consecutive District cross-country title, at the Sinnissippi Course, here, Saturday morning.

Schult, only a junior, covered the three-mile course in 15:24.2 and won going away. Second-place finisher Kevin Holland of Scales Mound was clocked in 15:46. Schult, who was third in the District at Sauk Valley in 1974, also enabled the Rockets to qualify for the Sectional at Princeton on Saturday.

Rock Falls grabbed second place in the team honors of the Illinois High School Association District competition with 105 points to Dixon's leading 73. Prophetstown was third with 112, just nudging ahead of Amboy's 113. Newman rounds out the first five teams that automatically qualify for the Sectional with 118 points.

The top 10 individuals also earn a trip to Princeton. Rounding out the top 10 were Forrester's Steve Denekas (15:49), Dixon's Duane Cowley (15:51), Dale Eller of Amboy (15:53), K. C. LeVar (15:54) and Dave Miler (15:58) of Mt. Morris, Sterling's Pat Cross (16:10), Ed Marquez of Rock Falls (16:12) plus Ed Love of Dixon (16:15).

Mt. Morris was sixth in the team standings with 124 counters followed by Sterling (136), Forrester (197), Freeport (203), Ashton (249), Oregon (269), Scales Mound (312), Polo (357) and Shannon (386). Chadwick and Elizabeth did not show up while Pecatonica did not run a full team.

Holland, the Upstate Illini's top finisher last Wednesday, bettered his 12th-place showing of last year while Denekas, the Mid-Northern Individual champion also staged last Wednesday, moved up to third from sixth in 1974.

Cowley duplicated his fourth achieved in '74 while Eller moved up from 22nd last year. LeVar and Miller are only sophomores.

Love was fifth a year ago. Tom Shipp of Prophetstown was 21st (16:17) followed by Newman teammates Franco Alvarez (16:19) and Mark Arsenau (16:24) while Larry Ross of Rock Falls was 14th (16:25), Nick Cruz of Newman 15th (16:27) and Jon Williams of Rock Falls 16th (16:27).

A pair of Dukes — Jim Magnafini (16:28) and freshman Tom Mott (16:32) — were 17th and 18th, respectively, followed by Amboy's Jim Grady (16:33) and Larry Karn (16:34), Dan Eyrieh (16:35) and Randy Sharer (16:37) of Prophetstown.

Freeport's Kevin Gale was 23rd (16:41) followed by John Ortgiesen (16:43) of Dixon, Neil Anderson (16:43) of Mt. Morris, Dixon's Ben Gamel (16:44), Rick Farringer (16:49) of Amboy, Juan Chavez (16:51) of Sterling plus Dean Eller (16:54) of Amboy.

Alvarez was 44th in 1974, Arsenau 31st, Cruz 29th, Grady 46th, Ortgiesen ninth, Farringer 35th and Dean Eller 27th. Louie Apple was the other Dixon finisher in 57th position.

Brian Zimmerman was 33rd, Calvin Dewey 50th and Karl Zimmerman 54th for Amboy. Zimmerman was 40th in 1974.

Ashton was paced by Ed Baylor in 36th followed by Tom Krause 39th, John Martinez 52nd, Gary Kofoid 59th, Deank Dvorak 63rd, Rick Fane 90th and Christ Somers 92nd. Martinez was 64th and Baylor 70th a year ago.

Jeff Funk was 40th, Merrill Keney 45th, Pete Williams 49th, Brian Brown 60th, Gary Bronkema 77th and Brian Gaylor 84th for Forrester. Other Mt. Morris competitors were Charles Castillo 42nd, Dave Deaconson 44th, Mike Turner 72nd and Dan Reckmeyer 80th.

Newman also placed Rick

Wilkin 32nd, Steve Lauff 46th, Van Sowards 68th and Mike Scudder 73rd as the Comets ended fifth overall. Last year, Newman placed seventh. The Comets and Amboy did not qualify in 1974 but bumped Sterling and Mt. Morris this time.

Oregon was paced by Bob Barnett in 47th followed by Marv Hollaway 48th, Dave Bocker 53rd, Larry Kereven 55th, Dave Buhs 66th, Jeff Bedeson 88th and Jim Corcoran 91st.

Polo finishers included Kurt Keefer 58th, Ed Stafuier 71st, Dave Tucker 74th, Jim Woolford 75th, Perry Luther 79th, Dave White 81st and Don Penn 89th.

Other teams and finishers include:

Freeport — Keith Schaible 30th, Ken Schardt 43rd, Marty Brook 51st, Bill Hadley 56th and Jim Brown 83rd.

Prophetstown — Tim Seifert 38th, John Case 62nd and Kurt Francis 64th.

Rock Falls — George Rivera 65th, Steve West 76th and Dave Weeks 82nd.

Scales Mound — Steve Koester 67th, Vic Hoyer 70th, Jeff Koehler 86th, Steve Dole 87th and Mickey Koehler 95th.

Shannon — Randy Elder 61st, Brian Janssen 69th, Keith Barth 78th, Lonnie Lessman

85th, Mark Ludwig 93rd and Jim Bab Gabriel, 94th.

Sterling — Tony Avelar 31st, Dave Milne 34th, Ed Ramos 35th, Keko Martinez 37th and Aaron Sedig 41st.

Survivors of Sectional competition will advance to the state finals Nov. 1, at the tree-lined, hilly, three-mile Detweiler Park Course overlooking the Illinois River north of Peoria.

The Sectional at Princeton will probably be one of the toughest in the state with Dixon, Rockford East, Belvidere, DeKalb and Woodstock involved.

Raindrops keep falling at Boston

BOSTON (AP)—Johnny Bench dislikes playing the World Series at night, but at this stage of the game, he'll take the World Series anytime.

The fall classic was postponed for the second day in a row Sunday and the prospect for another rainout clouded the air as the Cincinnati Reds and the Boston Red Sox prepared for the sixth game tonight.

"I don't think any World Series game should be played at night," said Bench, Cincinnati's All-Star catcher. "I don't think you'll see the best performances from the players. Baseball should be played in the daytime, in sunshine preferably."

This hasn't been the set for the "Sunshine Boys" around here for some time. Last weekend, it rained during the second game of the Series, but they managed somehow to play between the raindrops.

After the Reds took a 3-2 lead in Cincinnati, the teams came back to Boston for Game No. 6 and were stopped cold by a "Nor'easter"—a long-winded storm typical for the New England area.

That troublesome storm was expected to linger through today, perhaps causing another postponement. Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who rescheduled the sixth game for 8:30 p.m. EDT tonight, said he wasn't "very optimistic" about playing it.

While everyone talked about the weather Sunday, the Reds did something about it. They took their road show indoors and worked out at a cage on the campus of Tufts University, just outside Boston.

There, Manager Sparky Anderson announced that he was changing his starting pitcher for Game No. 6.

"It will be Gary Nolan, instead of Jack Billingham," Anderson said. "Nolan hasn't relieved all year and he's rested. Billingham has some experience as a relief pitcher. I'll have him and Fred Norman up early in the bullpen and I'll use them depending on the situation."

The rain not only served to change Anderson's pitching plans—but also those of Boston Manager Darrell Jonson. He was going to use Bill Lee on Sunday, but the extra day's rest made Luis Tiant the logical choice to save the Red Sox from extinction.

Lee, usually philosophical, was anything but that after he was pulled off the prestigious starting assignment for Boston's "must-win" game.

Four-day school is being tested

STILLWATER, Minn. (AP) — On a Tuesday while most of her sophomore high school friends were in class, Diane Arndt was home making herself a skirt.

At the same time, her sister Joanne, a senior, was back in school after waiting on tables at a fashionable restaurant Monday to make some spending money.

The two sisters weren't skipping school. They were taking Stillwater High School's new four-day week in stride.

The school operates Monday through Friday, as usual, but each pupil goes only four days. Each day is stretched out an hour to 7½ hours.

It's the latest major experiment in Minnesota schools, brought on by an increasing enrollment coupled with limited classroom space and a lack of money for new construction.

School officials selected the four-day system as the best alternative after voters rejected three bond issues in four years.

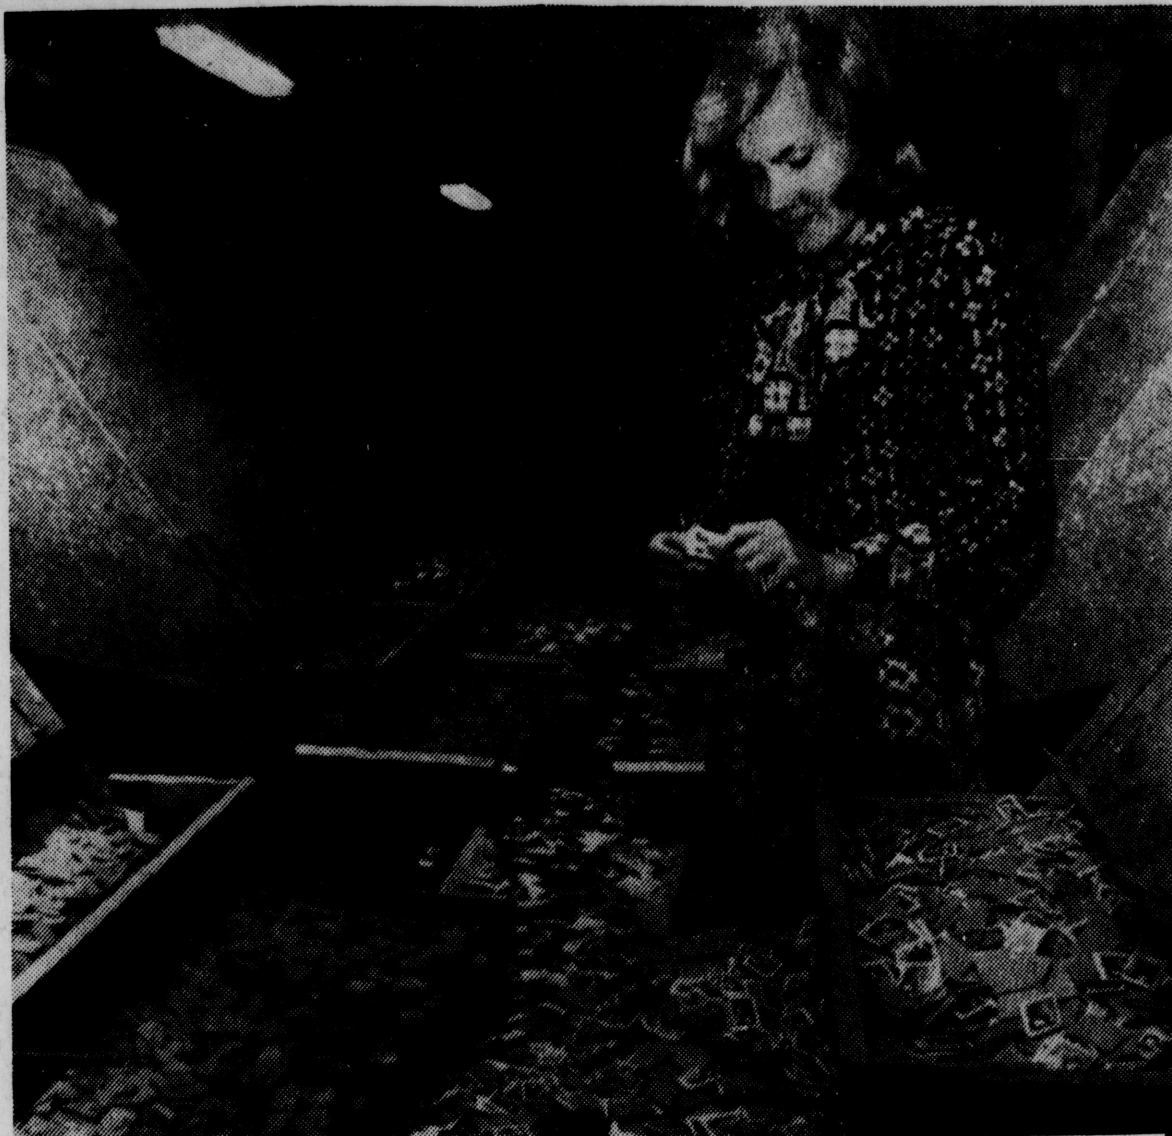

Shrewsbury, Mass., resorted to a similar plan earlier.

From contacts with school administrators, teachers, pupils and parents in Stillwater, these observations can be made:

—Administrators find the system is generally working well, although they admit there are some "bugs" and it means more work for them.

—Teachers are more apt to have some classes of 30 to 35-pupils than 15 to 20, and they may "spin their wheels" at some sessions because they can't inject new lessons when some youths are on their day off.

—Pupils count it a mixed blessing. There is more free time for recreation, outside work and special-interest studies. But the four-day operation means less flexibility in scheduling. Pupils are apt to go through the day with the same set of pupils, meaning their social contacts are limited. And they may find the schedule deprives them of an elective course they'd like to take.

Dramatic drop in town's crime rate

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (AP) — The murder rate in this seaside city of 55,000 equaled New York City's two years ago. Two of every 12 citizens were robbed, burglarized, assaulted, raped or had their cars stolen.

Now, the crime rate appears to be falling in a big way in this gateway to the nation's biggest Marine base.

Holdups are down. Prostitutes no longer roam the streets in large numbers. Residents are venturing downtown at night. Merchants, once in a rush to leave, are happy to be doing business here.

Getting some of the credit for the turn-around is a 41-year-old German immigrant named Rolf Henze. He has been the acting police chief since August, when Ward Ratcliff retired under fire.

Henze's crime control unit, with plainclothes officers riding in unmarked cars, has kept a constant watch downtown and made 400 arrests. Another 100 suspects were picked up; most were Marines turned over to military police at nearby Camp Pendleton.

Narcotics sales and street violence are down, said Henze. There were six or eight strong-arm robberies a night in downtown Oceanside last summer. Now, there are an average of two. "The crooks are staying out because it isn't safe for them," Henze said.

Also leading the cleanup effort was Maj. Gen. Carl Hoffman. He added military police, put controversial taverns off limits and staggered paydays to reduce the sudden impact of a $5 million payroll given twice a month to Camp Pendleton's 24,000 men and women.

"The Marines never exercised such leadership over the past decade than they have in the last five weeks," says David R. Laurent, executive director of the Oceanside Chamber of Commerce.

"Washington has given Gen. Hoffman the green light and tough measures are being taken, not only to protect Marines from getting hurt or robbed but in dealing with those in the wrong."

Laurent said that 15 to 20 small businesses pulled up and left town during a year of "bad crime publicity and bad crime statistics." Now, he said the trend appears to be reversing itself.

Despite the crackdown, Henze said "at least 35 per cent of those arrested are still Marines."

Camp Pendleton has been under civilian pressure to keep the young leathernecks out of Oceanside.

There were 195 Marines booked in city jail in the first seven months of 1975 compared to 156 in the same period last year. Rapes increased from 7 to 21, and burglaries blamed on Marines went from 15 to 34.

Farmers disenchanted with Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — Regardless of what is announced as a result of negotiations for long-term grain sales to Russia, President Ford appears to be in hot water with a lot of farmers who believe he has broken faith with them over exports.

The Moscow talks, scheduled to continue today, reportedly are aimed at securing regular sales of U.S. grain to the Soviet Union at the rate of six million to eight million metric tons a year. An announcement is expected by Monday, according to sources.

There is some complaint that the level of sales being negotiated is too low. Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., who is among those critics, said Friday that having a lid of eight million tons would force Russia into other foreign markets for grain rather than renegotiating with the United States for more.

But perhaps most bothersome to many farmers and Republican farm belt politicians is that it appears to them that Ford has broken a promise he made last spring when he rejected an emergency farm bill which would have boosted government price supports on key crops to counteract rising production costs.

In his veto message last May 1, Ford said the bill would "undermine the successful market-oriented farm policy" of his administration.

"This year, despite very trying circumstances, most farmers are again seeking full production," Ford said. "They have my support for a vigorous export policy for their products. I recognize that agricultural exports have been restrained twice in the past two years."

"We have now eliminated all restrictions on exports and we are determined to do everything possible to avoid imposing them again," Ford said. "Our farm products must have unfettered access to world markets."

Although close reading of his May 1 statement shows that Ford did not promise flatly that he would refrain from imposing export controls again, many farmers and their spokesmen in Congress believed that was what he meant.

On Sept. 9, Ford said, "I am extending the present moratorium on sales to the Soviet Union until mid-October when additional information on world supplies and demands is available. This extended period should provide the opportunity to negotiate for a long-term agreement with the Soviet Union."

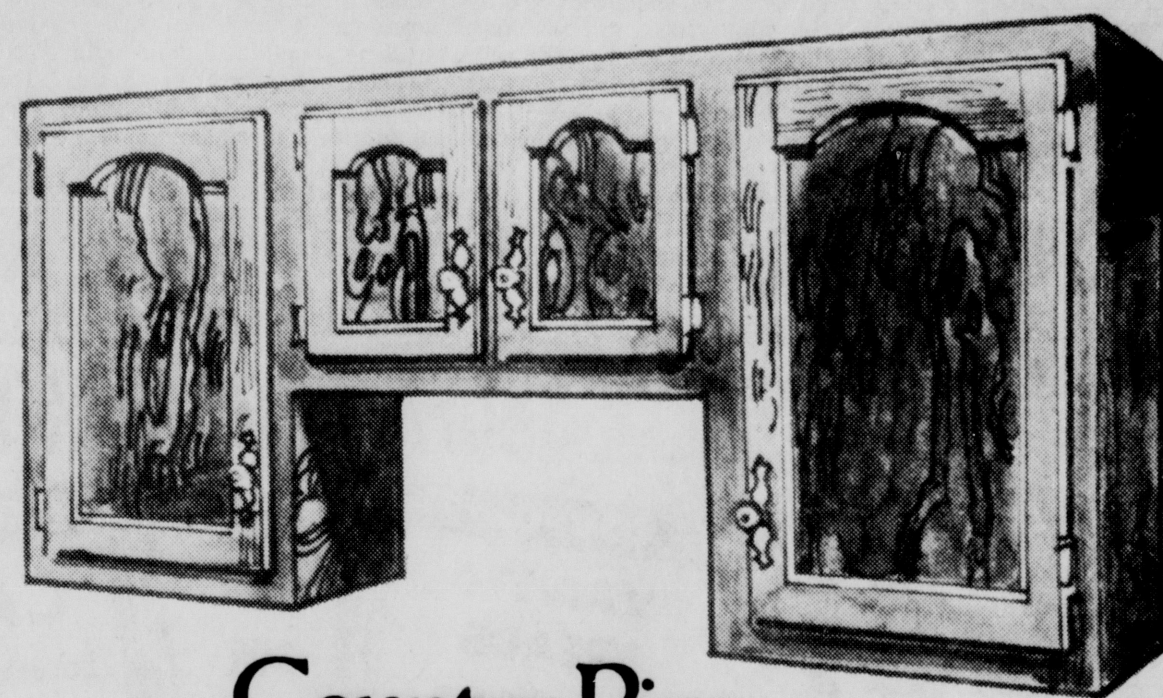

Two weeks later further grain sales to Poland were suspended. That embargo was removed a week ago after the Agriculture Department's Oct. 10 crop report showing that farmers will have the record wheat and corn crops indicated previously.

The Doctor Says:

People with 'floaters' in eyes learn to live with them

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB— I have been to an ophthalmologist recently for very bad "floaters." My vision is severely affected by dozens of those specks that travel from side to side and up and down.

The doctor said name them Oscar and learn to live with them. Last week I went to an optometrist, and he said, "They'll either get better or worse. You have 20-20 vision otherwise and don't need glasses."

The condition is so annoying that I've all but quit reading or watching TV. However, I hesitate going to another doctor for an opinion. Are floaters a hopeless case?

DEAR READER— Nothing is hopeless, but you may have to wait a while for medical science to be able to do anything about this problem.

Floaters are really eye shadows. Straight behind the pupil of your eye is the lens. It is attached to the sides of the eye and in front of the main large chamber of the eye. This large, rounded chamber is filled with a gelatinous material called the vitreous.

Light enters the pupil and is transmitted through the gel-like vitreous to the back of eye or the retina. The retina is a specialized movie screen. Of course for images to be transmitted onto the screen properly you must have good focus with your lens and undistorted transmission of light.

As you get older, small, and some not so small, areas inside the gel-like vitreous literally turn to liquid. Part of the vitreous becomes ungelled. The gel-like material around these spots tends to contract. Now, when light is transmitted through the vitreous it is distorted by the contracted gel and the fluid. The fluid can shift, too, as you move your eyes quickly. The shadow caused by the distorted light through these areas is cast on the retinal screen. The shadow moves on the screen as you move your eyes, from side to side or up and down. These shadows are what you call floaters.

Right now there isn't much you can do about the problem except, "Live with it," as you have been told. I am interested, though, in fairly new work to clean up the vitreous in some cases of blindness. This technique is not now used for your problem.

Some people lose their sight because of hemorrhage into the gel-like substance. The blood clouds the material and light is no longer transmitted properly through it to the retinal screen.

Dr. Gholam Peyman of the University of Illinois in Chicago and some other ophthalmologists have developed a new technique to suction out the vitreous from the eye, clean it up, and reinsert it. In a number of people blinded from hemorrhage into the gel-like material, this procedure has restored sight. This gives real hope that the day is coming when the gel can be withdrawn, treated, its volume expanded or whatever, and restored to the eye. This is but one example of a lot of really remarkable advances that are occurring.

DEPRESSION ART "FOUND"

Public Offered U.S. Surplus 1937 Art Prints

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Special) - A series of rare coincidences has led to the historic discovery of several thousand sets of full color antique art prints that were "lost since 1937." They are now being offered to the American public.

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

Back in 1937, immediately following the depression years, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and a select group of a dozen nationally prominent people formed a voluntary national committee for art appreciation to create an art program that would give the public a well-needed moral lift. It was the committee's decision to select the world's most famous paintings from the 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th centuries - the best paintings of Matisse, Van Gogh, Gainsborough, Picasso, Gauguin, Titian, etc., and to reproduce them in full color as perfectly as humanly possible and make them available to the public at a price within the reach of nearly everyone.

ABANDONED IN 1937

For some unknown reason, after a quantity of these beautiful reproductions were made, the entire project was abandoned and this collection of perfect reproductions was stored in a Brooklyn warehouse, where they remained undisturbed since 1937.

The lost collection was "rediscovered" and leading lithographers and art critics agree that the subject matter and quality of detail and color reproduction is incredibly accurate. Over $100,000.00 had been spent to make finely engraved glass printing plates.

These authentic original 1937 prints are literally collectors' items and have been appraised by a member of The Antique Appraisal Assoc. of America, Inc. at $7.00 each print. Once they have been sold, there will be no more available. A truly excellent art "investment" that makes a fabulous gift.

AVAILABLE TO PUBLIC

Now, after 38 years these full color 11"x14" (ave. size) prints are finally available to the public at $12.95 for a collection of 12 prints. Send cash, check or money order to: U.S. Art Surplus, Dept. B2, 4816 MacArthur Blvd. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20007. Fully GUARANTEED. Certificate of authenticity given with each set. Mastercharge and BankAmericard OK (give card number and expiration date).

Your Birthday

Oct. 21, 1975

An ambition that you've had for some time but have been unable to realize is likely to be achieved this coming year. Contacts you've made are now ready to help you.

By The Associated Press
Today is Monday, Oct. 20, the 293rd day of 1975. There are 72 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1918, Germany accepted U.S. terms to end World War I and ordered German submarines to their home bases.

On this date:
In 1740, Maria Theresa became ruler of Austria, Hungary and Bohemia.

In 1873, the showman, P.T. Barnum, opened the Hippodrome in New York City.

In 1941, during World War II, a state of siege was declared in Moscow.

In 1945, Arab nations formed a league and warned that creation of a Jewish state in the Middle East could lead to war.

In 1968, Jacqueline Kennedy and Aristotle Onassis were married on his private island, Skorpios, in the Ionian Sea.

In 1971, it was announced that West German Chancellor Willy Brandt was winner of the Nobel Peace Prize.

Ten year ago: The West German Bundestag re-elected Ludwig Erhard as Chancellor.

Five years ago: Algeria granted asylum to the exponent of LSD, Dr. Timothy Leary, who had escaped from jail in San Luis Obispo, Calif.

One year ago: Young anti-government demonstrators in Saigon overran police barricades and stoned the National Assembly building.

Today's birthdays: Former baseball star Mickey Mantle is 44 years old. Actor Jerry Or-bach is 40.

Thought for today: Hosts don't mind their guests' shortcomings nearly as much as their long stayings - anonymous.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the Massachusetts House of Representatives in Watertown appropriated 1,000 pounds to buy winter stores for the poor who had been forced to flee Boston and Charlestown early in the American Revolution.
